Ketchikan's Loss Wrangell's Gain

Max Rosenberg, who has conducted the Bismark Restaurant for some time, has sold his place of business to James Petersen, a recent comer from Seattle. Mr. Petersen is an experienced restaurant man and will make some changes in the Bismark. Max has not made up his mind yet as to what he will do in the future. He may go to Wrangell and go into the catering business there, or go into business here in town.

Ketchikan Miner:

Max has decided to cast his lot with Wrangell and today has opened up his new grill to be known as the Bismark Cafe and Lunch Room.

SHUSHANNA STAMPEDE EMPTIES MANY CAMPS

Cordova, July 24—The stampede to the Shushanna gold fields continues and the labor problem in the Copper River valley is becoming acute.

A special train chartered by thirty business and mining men left yesterday for McCarthy where the gold seekers will make the trail for the new camp. Nearly every camp along the railroad is deserted, all the men having left for the new diggings.

Back horses are in great demand and an order was cable to Seattle yesterday to send forty horses north on the next steamship.

Laborers in the new camp command good wages, $12 being the ruling scale at this time, and as the gravel runs but from one to five feet in depth the work is easy.

FEDERAL LICENSES

Federal license monies which have been pouring into the United States clerk's office at Juneau will be transferred to the territorial treasurer, W. G. Smith within a few days.

Collections from incorporated towns in the first division for the quarter ending June 30th are as follows:

Juneau	$3,576.39
Petersburg	2,570.22
Douglas	799.00
Ketchikan	975.00
Skagway	240.00
Wrangell	260.00
Haines	245.00

From unincorporated towns in the first division $2,779.88 was collected.

For the quarter ending September 30th 1913, for which license monies have been collected the figures thus far are:

Juneau	$10,995.00
Ketchikan	9,070.00
Douglas	8,640.00
Skagway	3,245.00
Wrangell	2,205.00
Haines	4,225.00
Petersburg	4,345.00

For this quarter $15,256.88 was collected from territory in the first division outside of incorporated towns.

Since the recent bear movement in the mild-cured fish market, local fishermen are organizing a co-operative association for the marketing of this product.

Sale of Deer Carcasses Suspended

Mountain Goats May Be Killed After August 1.

The governor's office has received the following telegram from the acting secretary of the department of Agriculture:

"Replying to your letter of July 2nd, regulation effective August 1st suspending sale of deer carcasses until August 15, 1914, and making open season for mountain goats August 1st to February 1st."

Gov. Strong recently recommended to the department a continuance for another year of the closed season on the sale of deer carcasses in Southeastern Alaska and the shortening of the open season for mountain goats. During the time that the sale of deer carcasses has been prohibited these animals have materially increased in numbers and the extension of the prohibition for another year will meet with popular approval.

The shortening of the open season for mountain goats is of importance in view of the fact that not a few of these animals have heretofore been killed by natives and others during the breeding season merely for the purpose of selling the heads.—Dispatch.

Judge Jennings Goes to Westward

The Thetis left Valdez early on the morning of July 16th for Bristol bay where the first term of the floating court will be held.

Judge Jennings, deputy clerk Scott, and court stenographer Hamburger will leave the vessel at Iliamna and travel overland to Bristol bay.

Sessions of court will be held at the many towns between Bristol bay and Kodiak, and the court is due to reach Seward the middle of September.

Judge Jennings did not know up to the time of his departure westward if he would hold the term at Seward or not. If Judge Brown gets through with the cases at Juneau in time he will go west and hold the Seward session, and if not, Judge Jennings expects to preside at Seward and at Valdez later.

Dan Walker Must Stand Trial

Dan Walker, a former well-known and substantial citizen of Juneau, has been indicted by the grand jury on the charge of selling liquor to Indians. He sold a drink to David Wallace, an Indian, who for the past two years has been engaged in the work of running down violators of the law prohibiting the sale of liquor to the natives.

A. R. Salm, an English Lord, left today on the Karen for Telegraph Creek enroute to the big game country of the Cassiar.

Greetings and Adieus

Word was flashed by wireless from the steamship Victoria Monday, while off Wrangell enroute to Ketchikan and Seattle, from the members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and their guests, who recently visited Wrangell while touring Alaska.

The message came to Leo McCormack, president of the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce, and read: "Greetings and adieu. Our visit to Wrangell will long be remembered."

The Victoria was due to arrive at Ketchikan on Monday last, and from there direct to Seattle, thus ending one of the most remarkable and educational tours ever attempted in Alaska.

Mr. McPherson, the gentleman in charge of the excursion, is to be congratulated on the manner in which he handled the affair from the day of leaving Seattle until their return.

Mary E. Hart Loses Home by Fire

Mrs. Mary E. Hart, lecturer for the Spokane, was one of the unfortunate ones to suffer loss in the recent fire in the forests of Tamalpais.

A fire started in a neighboring dwelling and soon extended to her home, which was totally consumed. Mrs. Hart lost not only her home, but with it many valuable souvenirs and keepsakes which she has accumulated during her many years of life in Alaska. Her home was a picturesque villa, a masterpiece of architecture, which was consumed by flames.

Ketchikan to Have New Daily Paper

Martin S. Perking, a former editor of the Ketchikan Miner, will shortly start the publication of the Daily Mail at Ketchikan. This will give Ketchikan the second daily paper, the Daily Miner being published by Richard Bushell, jr.—Dispatch.

Emery Valentine Is Indicted

For the alleged assault with a dangerous weapon on George R. Noble May 21st, Emery Valentine, of Juneau, has been indicted by the federal grand jury.

To Enforce Neutrality Laws

President Wilson interprets the neutrality laws with Senator Bacon and Congressman Flood, and is determined the laws must be enforced in the strictest sense, and no Mexican faction receive arms from the United States.

NO MORE BLANKETING OF PLACER FIELD?

Under the new mining law, as passed by the Alaska Legislature, the blanketing of wide areas will be impossible. When a man stakes a piece of placer ground he must proceed at once to do work upon it. He must do $100 worth of work for every 20 acres within ninety days from the date of discovery, and he cannot record his claims until he has done such work upon them. Furthermore, he may not stake more than two claims a month for himself, and not more than two pieces for each of two friends or grubstakers. Fancy anybody staking an entire creek and doing $100 worth of work for every 20 acres within ninety days. The thing is impossible. The dusk of the hatchet-and-pencil man has arrived. It is dawn for the honest prospector.—Fairbanks Times.

Owing to the decrease of work in the marshal's office in the immediate vicinity of Fairbanks, Deputy Marshal Jack McCormick has been transferred to the office at Chatanika. The station at Chatanika is likely to be made a permanent one. Earl Lieberman, of Wisconsin, Koyukuk, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy early in February, and was sentenced to spend 25 days in jail. The complaint was laid by B. E. Plummer and William Gilliland.

COURT SUSTAINS LYONS' DECISION

Sustaining the decision made by Judge Thomas R. Lyons that the title of the Hawk Inlet fish trap belongs to the user, C. J. Alexander, the Ninth circuit court of appeals, sitting in San Francisco, upheld the ruling of the federal court in the Alexander-Barron fish trap controversy and a precedent that will undoubtedly stand forever has been established.

The decision establishes the fact that trap sites may not be held without trap construction. The case was one of the hardest fought ever heard in Juneau. Winn & Burton appeared for Barron, plaintiff and Z. B. Cheney representing Captain Alexander.

COAL EXPERIMENT PROMISES FAILURE

There is every probability that the attempt on the part of the government to get enough Bering lake coal to salt water for a battleship test will end in a failure. According to the officers of the Sampson, the government has spent close to sixty thousand dollars thus far in the work, and have less than one hundred tons available for shipping at this time, and can get out not to exceed as much more before the freeze up. As it was estimated that eight hundred tons would be necessary to make the test, the amount which will be available will be totally inadequate.

The bill to give Alaska a government railroad is now sure to become a law within a year. The sum of $40,000,000 will be given for the purpose of opening to development a great part of Alaska and the result will be magnificent.

But there is a queer side to all this. Here in Nome we have a railroad which would help to do for this part of Alaska what the government railroad will do for other parts but while a great sum of money is supplied there, taxes here prevent our road from operating. It memory is not at fault the Juneau legislature took up the matter of this tax with a view to memorializing congress to remove this mileage tax but some members of the senate objected because such action would mean benefits to roads towards which they were not well disposed. None of the Nome delegation made these objections, of course, but the men who did make them certainly cannot have very broad ideas about what they owe the territory.—Nome Nuggett.

The brother had better guess again. If he will take the trouble to obtain a copy of the session laws recently passed by our legislature he will find that Congress was memorialized to remove the mileage tax.

The Table Is Always "Set."

The season is now here when the people of "Kag" may reap where they have not sown, and gather where they have not planted. Nature has clothed the hillsides around Skagway with prolific vines and bushes upon which grow in wildest profusion a dozen varieties of berries and small fruits. Black currants are ripe and throughout the hills the pickers are busy gathering the luscious gloves of tangy sweetness.

Soon the red and black raspberries, with their uncultivated flavor, coming unchanged and undiluted from the laboratory of Nature, will shower their abundance upon us. The high and low bush cranberries, dewberries, salmonberries, gooseberries, serviceberries, the wild strawberry, crabapple and salalberry are rippening into fullness and will be gathered and made into jellies and jams. They will be preserved, dried and canned for winter's use.

Even now the huckleberries and the blueberries are ripe and ready for the harvest; boys and girls, men, women and maidens are gathering the fruit and gathering health and happiness as a by-product.

All these grow in Alaska without planting, and they grow in abundance. From Ketchikan on the south to Point Barrow, 3,000 miles to the north, the hills and valleys are spangled with succulent, tinted gems that shine like jewels on the brow of a queen. This great land is running riot in natural abundance. Tons of berries will soon be preserved and preserved in a hundred different ways. They are helping to solve the high cost of living, for with our fish, our venison, wild goats, reindeer, moose caribou and sheep, we may be independent of the fleet and fruit trusts if we choose.

The man who picks his own fruit, shoots his own meat, gathers his own firewood, catches his own fish and sleeps in his home made cabin, needs have no fear of the future, his necessities will always be supplied. It is the luxuries that cause the high cost of living.—Alaskan.

A Successful Affair

The social and dance given at the skating rink on Monday night by the Civic Improvement Club, was a very successful affair from every standpoint. The committee appointed to arrange for the event did their duty well and were responsible for its unusual success.

The State of California, coming on the hour that it did, was fortunate, in that several of the passengers availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy an hour's dancing.

Those in charge of the tables were kept busy until a late hour and the receipts were satisfactory. The money realized will be turned over to the town board to be used for the benefit of the town.

Ed. Jern, who is working a quartz prospect on upper Chitana, declares that recently he was surrounded by a herd of 3,000 caribou, and he had a hard time getting out.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo says he is ready to issue five hundred million dollars currency any time the country wants it. Well, the Miner Man will take his now.

Chicago politicians are working as to how the 400,000 Illinois women will vote in the next election, having just been granted the franchise. Well it's a certainty that their worse fears will be realized.

One cannot help wondering whether the remains, after the Balkan fighting is all over, will be worth enough to warrant anybody claiming them. Probably Turkey is figuring on getting them back again because nobody else will want to bother with them.

William Hesse, the moving picture man who was at Juneau for some time early in the spring, has secured films of the volcanoes on the Alaska peninsula in action. He says they were taken from the crater edge, and will be of intense interest to both the general public and scientists.

Harry P. Gove, postmaster at Kodiak since 1868, died at that place recently at the advanced age of 74. Says the Cordova Alaskan. It is reported that "Uncle" Harry Gove was the youngest son of an English lord. In addition to the postmastership he conducted a general store at Kodiak up to the time of his death.

Chas. Fallousbee, the genial barber employed at Patenaude's shop, who has been enjoying a vacation for a couple of months at Thom's Creek, watching the trap owned by Rickard Hofstad and Ole Otteson, returned to his chair on Tuesday.

Mr. Fred Leonard, the Laundryman, accompanied by his daughter Gussie and mother-in-law Mrs. G. A. Royalty, left for Belle Island Hot Springs where he intends to remain for a month. Mr. Leonard has not been feeling well lately and has gone to the springs in the hopes that the mineral baths will benefit him.

The Kareu, Capt. Johansen, is leaving today for Telegraph Creek with two passengers and about four tons of freight. This will be the first trip on the river since the new six-cylinder engine has been installed but the Captain has no fear but that the sturdy little boat will meet all requirements.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Matheson, Miss Helen Clark, of Portland, and Miss Margaret Bronson, left on the Helen, Wednesday for a camping out trip to Thom's Place.

Death of Nelson Bennett.

Nelson Bennett, of Tacoma, the pioneer railroad builder of the northwest, is dead and his funeral occurred at Tacoma on the 25th of July. Mr. Bennett built and operated the tram of Dyea during the boom days of '97.

P. J. Gorman, of the Shakan Salmon Company, left for Seattle on the Dolphin.

Members of the American boundary survey party will soon sail from Seattle for Cordova. Headed by A. C. Baldwin, they will attempt to scale Mt. St. Elias the coming summer, and they express confidence in their ability to succeed.

The Alaska-Juneau Gold Mining Company whose properties are at Silver Bow basin, will erect a large milling plant with in the limits of the city of Juneau. The company declares it will employ 2,000 men regularly when active mining begins.

Senator Cummins has a bill prohibiting folks from telling lies over the telephone. If people have to do their lying face to face, the profession is certain to languish.

The betrothal of James J. Mulally, who was elected a member of the first Alaska Legislature from the Fourth Division but who did not attend the session, and Miss Augusta Gunnerson, also of the Fairbanks district, has been announced.

The gross receipts from the social and dance given by the Civic Improvement Club on Monday night were $84.65.

The following well-known Alaskans were passengers south on the Humboldt: Ex-Marshal, H. K. Love, of Fairbanks, who is enroute to California to settle on a ranch; Mrs. L. J. Irwin, wife of Judge Irwin, new U. S. Marshal, and daughter, to spend the summer outside; Miss Vesta White, sister of Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. J. E. Clarke, wife of Marshal Irwin's chief deputy.

George Taylor, L. B. Horton and Emil E. Hurja went south on the Humboldt as guards for four insane persons from the interior.

H. H. Thurston, who received the contract for replanking Front Street, started in on the work today. He will employ about one-half a dozen men on the job and expects to complete the work in about thirty days.

Zulauf-Brown

Mr. Robt Zulauf, of Stamford, Nebraska, who has been visiting friends in this city, departed on the Jefferson for Juneau, where he is to be married to a Miss Brown of that place, whom he met on the State of California on his way up here. We understand they intend to reside in Stamford, Nebraska, where Mr. Zulauf has extensive milling interests.

Accident At A. S. P. Cannery

Considerable excitement was caused at the A. S. P. cannery on Monday morning when the governor belt on the main engine broke and the machinery ran away. Before the engine could be shut down considerable damage was done to the machinery by the breaking of pulleys and shafting and twisting of shafts. Gus Langdren, the foreman, ran into the engineroom to shut off the engine and was struck with some flying missile which rendered him unconscious for a short time. When the machinery began its mad race, the employees made for places of safety and no injuries occurred other than to the foreman. One or two of the women employees in the cannery were badly frightened and one of them fainted and fell among the fish, but manager Brown was soon to the rescue and succeeded in getting the young lady to a place of safety. The cannery was only temporarily delayed by the accident and were canning again twenty-four hours after the mishap.

pounds and is operated by two storage batteries weighing twenty pounds each. A clamp is provided to attach the motor and propeller to the stern of the boat, and the batteries are placed in the boat's bottom. The motor develops a quarter horsepower and runs at 2,000 revolutions per minute.

Titanium and Alloys of Steel

Much experimenting with various alloys of steel has been carried on by railroads and rolling mill operators to produce a rail that will give more satisfactory service than the ordinary rail now in use. One of the principal metals used in these experiments, according to the United States geological survey, is titanium. More than 250,000 long tons of rails were rolled in 1910 from steel to which ferro-titanium had been added. More than 150,000 tons of steel rails in which nickel or nickel and chromium were used as alloy
were also made during 1910, and experiments were made with about 80, 000 tons of steel rails in which chromium, manganese, vanadium and other metals were used. Certain steelmakers, according to the survey, are now advertising titanium steel, claiming that, although no titanium is left in the steel, the removal of gases and impurities effected by it greatly increases
the good quality of the steel.

Gathers Road Dust

A Manchester engineer has patented an apparatus which, it is claimed, will prevent the clouds of dust raised in dry weather by automobiles and other vehicles. The device, which is simple and inexpensive, collects the dust as it rises. The dust is drawn into conduits which are funnel shaped at the mouth and which run from the rear of the front wheels to the rear of the back wheels. These conduits are connected with a box into which the dust is driven by the pressure of air, or this end can also be accomplished by the aid of a centrifugal fan geared to the driving shaft of the automobile. The contents of the dust box can be discharged by pulling a lever at the front of the vehicle.—Consular Report.

Ironing Tablecloths

The effect of a lovely linen tablecloth is often spoiled by the network of creases caused by folding it. In the future when ironing the cloth fold it once through the middle, roll it and tie with a piece of tape. In this manner there will be but the one crease and the tablecloth will lie flat and smooth
upon the table.—Indianapolis Star.

To Illustrate

Example as well as precept was furnished to the youthful autograph fiend who wrote to one of the world's richest men, asking for an "autograph sentiment" and inclosing a two cent stamp for his reply. Over his opu-lence's signature came the prompt response on a postcard:
"A penny saved is a penny earned."
—Lippincott's.

Strange Mistake

Old Mrs. Jones entered the drawing room unexpectedly and spoiled a very pretty tableau.

"I was just whispering a secret in Gousin Jennie's ear," explained Charlie
"The sorry," said the old lady gravely, "that your eyesight has become so bad that you mistake Jennie's mouth
for her ear."—London Tit-Bits.

gan crushing ore from the Blue Bell claim owned by W.
C. Harp, Roy McQueen and William Barker on the divide between Ready Bullion and Mouse creeks.

At the Nome city election held April 1, William A. Gilmore, for several years mayor
was at the bottom of the list of those elected. Only two of the old council was re-elected.

Dr. Emil Krulish, who last year toured the territory on detail to the Alaska school service, and who presented an extensive report to congress tav-oring an appropriation of $120, 000 for medical work among the natives will likely come north again this summer.

Control over practically all water courses in the country seems to have been given the Federal government by a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. In the decision in the Sault Ste.
Marie case the court ruled that the term "navigable waters"
does not include merely the navigable sections of streams,
but extends to the tributaries and feeders, for without the control of these the control over the navigable sections might become wholly impotent.
The far-reaching effect of this decision in connection with water power and other franchises can hardly be overestimated.

A moose made a heroic effort
one day last month to save its life while trying to cross the Kenai river. For an hour and a half it struggled to get a foot hold on solid ice or reach shore
but exhaustion came on and it was compelled to abandon the struggle. As a humane act, a bullet from the gun of a local game warden ended its suffering and life.

It is stated that the Federal government made a profit of nearly $6,500,000 on the coinage of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars during the fiscal year of 1912. As an example, out of one pound of an alloy of nickel and copper, costing about 23 cents, the mint coins 5-cent pieces to the amount of $455.

BIG GOLD STRIKE

IS REPORTED

According to word received from Cordova via Seattle, it looks as though a real gold strike has been made on the Sushanna River, a tributary of the White, in the neighborhood of one hundred miles from the Kennicott copper mines.

The diggings are shallow bed rock, lying but four or five feet from the surface. The hills are rolling and well worn and the country offers an extensive area of promising ground.

Among the letters brought out is one from Axel Walstrom
to John Lindquist of Cordova.
Walstrom writes that the ground is very rich and that he personally took out pans that ran as high as $4 and $5. On
No. 6 above on Bbnanza creek
two men with crude apparatus are said to be taking out $25-500 per day.
